Warming winter events are coming up at Bonegilla Migrant Experience, with food an important link to people's time at Bonegilla and the flavours and skills they brought with them.

There are opportunities to get hands-on and explore the food preparation techniques of migrant groups with the sausage making and meat smoking workshop, or truffle making for the children. Or why not take a tour of the site with an ex-resident and then sit as the migrants did at communal tables for lunch? Read on for more details...
